“ Julie Owen lit a candle in memory of Judy Lynn Wise

Julie Owen - September 12, 2015 at 06:15 AM

“ I wish I could have lit every color candle for you. Because you were as beautiful as the colors of the rainbow. Each one is unique. And that's exactly what you were unique ! I have never met nor will I meet or have another you in my life. Your laughter, kindness & smile lit up my world. The way you could understand and give advise was greater than I've ever known. You could talk to anyone and make a friend. There are very few people that can do that. In you I found a friend & Sister. No matter what was going on you always found time to listen and give words of Inspiration and hope. Our love for our children was unconditional. And no matter what they always knew that. Greg & Larry are grown men now. But they always knew they would always find you willing to listen and help in any way you could. We were 2 peas in a pod. Your love for Sandra was so great nothing could come between you. I can't think of anything we didn't tell each other or just talk about. After the video store closed it was so hard not seeing you and talking to you everyday ! And as our lives went in different directions. We didn't have the time to talk everyday. But when we did it would be a

2 hour call. We would catch up on everything that had gone on. So when you told me about the test. And you were waiting on the results. I'd call and ask do you know yet ?? And you would say no I'm still waiting. Last year when Ralph died. We talked lots. And you helped me get through that. I'm wondering now did you not tell me because of my mental state. That would be so you !! Not to cause me to worry about you. You just kept saying I don't know yet. If I had only known NOTHING would have kept me from coming to you. But I didn't and I'm so sorry I can never forgive myself for not being there for you. When you needed me most. I will carry your love and memories with me until my last breath. I LOVE YOU TO INFINITY AND BACK.

“ Jason Maddox lit a candle in memory of Judy Lynn Wise

Jason Maddox - September 11, 2015 at 09:25 PM

“ As I sit here and try to think of what to say. There are so many memories that come to mind. Let's start with the day that I met Judy. I was working in a video store and the lady walked in and said I'm here to start work. She introduced herself and as we started talking. The door come open and in walks Randy. I have known Randy for many years working at McDonalds. He worked up there at the fire stationstation close by,so he came in a lot. When I saw him I said hi Randy what are you doing here ? He said was that old lady there that's my wife. From that day forward I feel in love with Judy. Customers thought we were sisters. And in our eyes we were. To say we talked on the phone a lot was a understatement !!! We could talk for hours. You see this sweet woman was redheaded, born in April, smoke Virginia slims, and loved good food. Everything I just said I was just like her.And the same applied to me. To say I Love her don't even come close !!! There isn't anyone that I could or ever can be that close to again. I'll be there tomorrow to see her and her family. But I will miss her laugh, words of wisdom and most of all her love. No matter what was going on in my life she could always make me feel better. And I will never forget the love and undstanding that ONLY Judy had. She was a once in a life time sister and friend. And will never be forgotten.

Love you always
Julie Owen

“ So sad to hear about Judy's death at such a young age. So sad also is to see Greg is showing signs of dementia at his young age. He completely forgot to mention Judy's oldest granddaughter, his oldest daughter, Nikki Wise in her obit. My sympathy to her son Larry and her sister in law, Sandra. Linda Wise Willis
