“ My son, Jaiven Todd, was classmates with Keenan in Walker Park Elementary and Carver Middle School. He always spoke of how uplifting Kennan was and how he was always smiling. I am so glad that my sons path crossed with Kennan's. I pray for your family through this time. May God's peace and comfort consume you.

“ The world is a little less bright without your giggle and dance moves, K. Thanks for teaching me how to dougie and love like there's no tomorrow. Losing a special pal never gets easier, but I'm blessed to have known you and I can't wait to see the moves you have when we meet again

“ This big man never knew what an impact he made on everyone around him. For me personally, he showed me that there are more ways to approach things than being dominant and sassy. (Not because he was frail, the opposite of that actually, he was so sassy, he was gonna win, so you better take another approach). Keenan was drawn to basketball and would whip and nae-nae harder than anyone else I have ever seen. I am so grateful for the time I got to spend with him over the years. You have been in a picture frame on my shelf since the summer I met you, and now I will cherish that, along with your notes and drawings, for the rest of my life. All I can say is, what a sweet soul.

“ So sorry and sad to hear about sweet Keenan. I just loved him. ESP won't be the same without him. I hope these words will help his family remember his sweet and precious spirit-I know I always will.

“ Just wanted to share a little about Keenan.

Keenan played the big role of being my first ever camp twin lakes buddy with ESP. For people that have never experienced CTL, it might not mean much. However, for me, it was life-changing. I was given the opportunity to spend an entire week, day-in and day-out, laughing and dancing with Keenan. He was shy at first, but soon his personality began to shine. His sass matched mine to a T, and throughout the week, I was able to grow closer and watch Keenan shine. Much to his dislike, I would urge him more and more to get out of his comfort zone: to swim longer, to play harder, and to ride that massive horse. But it wasn't until the end of the week that I realized he was actually the one coaching me the whole time. He coached me in patience and in consolation. He taught me how to put others needs before my own. He showed me how to be compassionate and accommodating. All of these life lessons that can't be learned in a book. Lessons that have helped me carry out God's calling on my life to be an Occupational Therapist. Keenan is to thank for that. Oh, and he also taught me how to dougie! Although we couldn't get the McDonalds or Dairy Queen he asked for at every mealtime, I know, at least for me, it was a week of a lifetime. And even though a week seems like such a small amount of time, by the end of it I had grown so keen to him it felt almost maternal. This small snapshot that I was fortunate enough to spend with him makes my heart break for his loss. Therefore I cannot imagine the pain and loss his family must feel. My thoughts and prayers go out to you.

“ I'm so heartbroken to hear about the passing of our friend Kennan. I wanted to share because I was his big hearts buddy 2 years ago!

Keenan was so excited to be one of the three little pigs! We practiced his one speaking part over and over again before the big day! He was so joyful about every little part of big hearts and had the greatest time being on stage!

“ He was my pool buddy in summer of 2015, and he was always so excited to be in the water. He always put a smile on my face and was always asking questions, such an inquisitive and kind boy. He definitely left a mark on my heart, much like all the other kiddos I've interacted with. I give my condolences to his family, and they will be in my prayers.

Kindly,
