“ I've been missing my sister a lot lately. I miss her so much. Its like she was the sun and its dark without her. She was so special. She was so kind. I know everyone would say that about a family member if they passed away, but I really mean it. Andrea REALLY WAS special, she was like an angel on earth. She made people smile. She was so goofy, she could make you laugh just from hearing her laugh. Its was so wierd. Its like I cant even describe it, she was amazing. She touched so many peoples lives. She became close to them and just made their lives better. My sister always wanted to be like me, all throughout childhood. She was always so proud to have me as a sister. She would always tell me how beautiful I was; she was always showing my pictures to her friends. I hope she knew that I did the same things. I was so proud to have a sister as beautiful and remarkable as Andrea. I told friends stories about her all the time. The truth is, I have always wanted to be more like her. Everyone should be more like her. Kind hearted and loving. Honest and real. That was my sister. She never cared about what anyone else thought. She would tell you how she felt about the world and everything on it. She didnt pretend to be anyone else. She was Andrea and she was crazy! If you didnt like it she didnt care because she was real. I really hope I can learn from her and the bright young woman she has become.

My beautiful brazilian sister. I'll never forget your beautiful brown eyes. I miss you terribly. My heart feels empty; but then I think of you and remember all of the good times we had I feel ok. I know that youre watching over me (Im sorry if I do things you dont like), you're my angel. I know you will never let harm come to me. I feel safe knowing that youre up there. I know that youre in a better place, a happier place. A place where there is no worries or anger, just love and happiness. I know you fit better in a place like that. Youre probably a princess there. We will be together again one day. I promise you, I will meet you in that happy place.

I love you.

Your sister,

*Leslie,
Andrea was such a free spirit. She learned to love life from a very young age. Remember when she would steal our smokes and try to inhale...because she thought we would think she were cool? lol. She wanted to be just like you then. She didn't know we loved her did she? I only wish I got to know her as the beautiful woman she became. I can only imagine how vibrant and full of life she was. Her spirit is free. She's moved on to her next great adventure...and this time...she'll be able to school us when our time comes to meet her there. Stay strong but don't be afraid to cry. Don't be hesitant to turn to those who love you for strength. You'll need it. I love you and I'll see you soon. Please give Jennifer and her babies hugs for me.##imported-begin##Tracy Major##imported-end##* precisamos dizer o quanto ficamos chocados com a notícia, e quão tristes estamos. A nossa tristeza é de saudades, que já bateu tão
