“ I miss you momma. This is what I will always see when I think of you. Perfection. Thank you for my childhood until now and every single memory in between. For every kiss on the cheek and every hug around the neck...I would give anything for one more, "I love you my Princess." I love you and can't wait until the day I get to see you again. Rest in Peace beautiful. We miss you so much..

“ Angie was most definitely a warrior and a trooper! I met her in the fall of 2017 at Tennessee Oncology. On many, many days we had chemotherapy together. At no time did I hear her complain of her plight because Angie’s mission was to make all seated around her comfortable as she shared her story and gave encouragement to those “meeting “ cancer for the first time. She never met a stranger. We were active in two support groups, and that light shining through her was the same as what I saw in the treatment room. We will miss Angie , but have faith that she is no longer hurting and that we will see her again even as our hearts are breaking 💔.

“ Angie and I met at work. We became fast friends during training. She was so easy to like. We've kept in touch through FB and she told me her medical story. She endured more than the rest of us cannot even imagine. She is now with God but she lives in all of us through her encouragement to get a colonoscopy. She may very well have saved my life and the lives of many others. She will always be my hero. Rest with the angels seeet Angie. Love you, Tina
