“ My mom was such a sweet and caring soul. She did everything she could for me and my sisters even when she didn't have much to give. Although she had her faults, as we all do, I wouldn't change her for the world. She truly was one of a kind. Mom's life wasn't always the best and I know she endured many hardships, but we as her daughters felt our presence was able to brighten her spirit as she brightened ours! Mom's infectious laugh and goofy crooked smile touched the souls of many, which I will miss dearly. If I had a bad day, she was always the first person I would run to. Through my highest of highs and lowest of lows mom has always supported me and stood by my side no matter what. My mom was always there for me and always put us first even if she wasn't okay herself. I will forever cherish the memories we had together. Although you won't be here physically for many of my accomplishments to come, I know you're spirit will always be there with me.

God will be taking care of you up there in heaven while we will be taking care of your girls down here. I know you're much happier up there with your legs dancing with god and mimi. We now have our own guardian angel to watch over us. I love you so much momma bear and that will never change.

Although this is goodbye for now, I'll see you again some day where I can feel your loving and nurturing touch once more. Fly high momma, until we meet again you'll forever hold a place within my heart.

“ Angie Pooh, what can I say we shared so many memories. We were like twins growing up, being only 1 minute shy of 11 months apart, so much so that I was often called an-Suzanne and you su-Angie. We were each other’s Maid of Honor. Growing up we had two twins beds at first, but you would always come crawl in my bed. When we moved they knew we wanted to be close so they bought us a double bed instead.

I always momma’d you and I know sometimes I drove you crazy, but I always did it out of love. You kept me laughing and smiling with your infectious giggle and sense of humor. I will be here for your girls and try to do everything with them that I know you want to be here to do. Your body was just too tired and it was ready to be whole again. I’m so sad you are gone, but I find peace in knowing you are free of the grips of addiction and pain.

I will love you always baby sister,
