“ Royale posted this on her Facebook and wanted it shared here for those that are not on Facebook:

Hello everyone. At approximately 10:30am this past Wednesday, the gates of Heaven received a new member. My grandfather was the most caring, loving, selfless person I have known. He touched the lives of all whom he met in a myriad of ways; from strangers on the road, to waiters and waitresses in all his favorite restaurants, to his family and friends. One could always find him tinkering away at different projects for work, church, or a friend in need. His goal was always to show the Lord's love throughout his life. This often meant through his ability to fix just about anything and offering support whenever possible, even if it was just that amazing smile. Without hesitation, he stepped into the role of helping to raise me, when time swiftly altered our lives forever. I am beyond thankful for everything he taught me and all the support he gave me throughout the years. With his guidance, love, and unwavering strength I, along with so many others, were able to see a glimpse of Heaven through this man, known by most as Grampa or Grampa Art. There are so many more words I could say to honor this amazing man. Though he has left us physically, his love and compassion will live on through each person he met.

For all of those who would like information regarding funeral arrangements, please visit Tim Stewart's website or message me directly. I will be happy to pass on this information.

Let us not focus only on sadness and grief, but let us all focus on the faith-focused, wonderful life that Grampa lived. Heaven is celebrating in this time. They now have, in their presence, a truly remarkable man.
