Beautiful Tribute to Aunt Blanche! She made me feel so "loved". A beautiful lady with a beautiful soul. God has gained a beautiful angel!

“ My dear friend, Rhoda, and to Stanley, Diane, Barbara, and Allan,
I've always had the utmost respect for your mother.

#1: She birthed 5 kids, that's a big thing to me.

#2: She had to become the matriarch of the family when we lost your daddy, and she stepped right up to the plate, and she was respected already to the point that her stepping up -- nobody noticed she took over. That's a big deal in her era when Mr. Dickerson always had the first and final say.

#3: I think of the legacy your mother stands for, how she earned her wisdom and devotion to the priorities in the order of which they should be, faith, family, on and on. Your mother was the role model without making a little murmur, now how many adults have you known to have that rank, that level of RESPECT for that person. She stood out without announcement, she rolled right into position of being the Rock.

#4: I watched your mother make things WORK, and aside that she, herself, was a diligent work horse. She could lead an army just as if she lead her own, her family.

#5: She had a tenderness that you could feel run through your very own veins just by eye contact if that was necessary at the time SHE COULD PUT FEELINGS into your heart, your mind, and feel it in your soul, that's the power of her spirit, was to feel her through her eyes, and the look at the time of the issue. I want to recognize legacies for it's OUR VERY OWN MOTHERS who don't even know themselves what all they instilled in us, and it's the gift we hold so precious from them. I'm speaking of the connection we seek out and feel from the legacies of the most important persons in our lives, and we are grabbed by theirs, OUR MOTHERS. You feel it from my mother just as I have my feelings and my connection to your mother like no one else would know until I announce it and tell people exactly what all they left us, because it runs through our veins like the blood of the lamb of God!

I love you Rhoda, and know your mother took a piece of me, as she did from you, when she passed through and on into the pearly gates of heaven. For that, I'm humbled and grateful for every bit of time I spent beside your mother. I can feel now that she'll be waiting to greet us again.

“ Blanche Dickerson will always be dear to my heart and Ed Dickerson (she was like a second mother to Ed and he loved and respected her strong character so much). I will never forget how she was there for us when Bobby was born during ice storm in March 1993. With Bobby being 1 day old our peer went out and Blanche held and snuggled Bobby to keep him warm and helped me with whatever I needed. I have always been impressed with how her children and grandchildren adore and love her. A life well lived and great legacy in her family ❤️
