“ My fondest memory of Brian was when he and I were on one of our many trips to Barnes and Noble and there was a little girl teasing our daughter and I started having a panic attack and he held my hands and said it happens to me all the time just breathe and before I could get my response of don't tell me what to do right now I was already laughing and crying and thanking him because he was so good at helping me get grounded and I am so glad that he found someone to do that for him!
