“ Bob - What a character, what a guy. We had so many discussions about life, so many laughs about life. We pulled each other's legs about so many things. Whenever Sally and I went down to have dinner with Bob and Midge and Elizabeth we would be laughing all night and still laugh when we left to walk back home. I admired and had great respect for my friend Bob. He had a heart of gold and as strong as an ox. We will sure miss Bob's laughter and strong voice echoing across and through the woods. When we moved here 11 years ago we started keeping llamas, geese, chickens, ducks and turkeys, but what pleased us so so much was the pleasure that Bob had from watching all the animals go about their business on the field and when babies were born he used to get so interested in their progress and how they were doing, We feel so very privileged to have been neighbors to Bob, Midge, and Elizabeth and hope to be neighbors for many many more years to come. The void that Bob has left in our Hearts and in our lives will never be filled. Bob, I salute you buddy for who you were- a kind, loving husband, a kind loving father, and a kind loving Grandfather. You were a good man that made our lives richer, Thank you Bob and may you find eternal peace as I know you will.
