This is beautiful. I'm so, so sorry. He's such a beautiful man, and you can just see the goodness and kindness in his face. As I told you, Carl has not left you. He sees your pain, though his is now gone. He wants you to grieve him but not to stay in misery. He wants you to live a good and happy life. He wants to watch you live happily, and that's what will allow him to rest in peace.

What a beautiful memorial, what an example of strength and caring you have been to others walking with esophageal cancer. I'm sorry you had to become part of the family, but I am comforted by the spirit that your family brings to our family. Prayers are going up for you, may the Lord comfort you as only he can, for the depth of mourning is known only to those who have to endure it--and cannot be comforted by earthly means. Wish I could give you a hug in person.

My heartfelt sympathy and prayers to Chris and the family. Carl was a very brave warrior in the fight against EC. His suffering has now ended and he has been given eternal peace, free from pain in the heavens above. God bless and may all of your many wonderful memories of times shared together help to heal your hearts.

“ I just received the sad news of Carl's passing from our GEC headquarters in Dallas.
Not only was he a great guy to work with, but a great one to be around as well.
I know the pain that your family is going through now emense and that he will be sorely missed by you and friends ;we will miss him our GEC family as well.
Our Hearts and Prayers are with you.

Bill Fisher - May 10, 2016 at 02:17 PM

Indeed he was! It broke his heart being forced into retirement by his cancer and leaving his GEC family. Carl worked for many of months with a chemo pump to his side and not wanting he co-workers to learn of it. He was a very powerful man.

Roy G Nichols - May 10, 2016 at 02:10 PM

Carl so did not want to retire from GEC for he wanted to continue to contribute to life and not take from it. His body had become so fragile that it was even painful to wake up some mornings.. One of our goals was that he would have returned part-time...
