“ Virginia; I know that right now you are hurting so deeply, but find comfort in knowing that your mother is in a lovely place now. She is no longer sad. We are the ones lonely and sad. I am asking God to give you the strength and peace you need at this terrible time. I just know that he will wrap His loving arms around you and give you just that! Your Mom made a beautiful person when she had you; so carry on with what she gave you and she will live on. Cherish the wonderful memories you had together. Lean on the good Lord and the rest of your friends to help you through this. We are all here for you. As always, I am a phone call away. Love you sister!##imported-begin##Pam Davis##imported-end##

“ Virginia I of all people know what you are going thru. The loss of a parent is the worst pain ever, but you are strong and you will get thru this. It's not easy but look at Lori and I. We thank God we got to spend the time we did with our daddy. And we laugh at all the good times we had with him. Just remember the good times with your mother and the laughter you two shared and each day with get better with time. You are very strong and have lots of friends like me that will be there for you if you let us. Also you can always talk to God when no one else will listen God will.
