“ Here's a serious one. We worked together as computer programmers for a few years and continued our friendship as we traveled different professional paths in the IT field. Early on, he taught me to how to break technical tasks into smaller pieces and then address and solve the smaller pieces one at a team. In an effort to not become overwhelmed and to make some progress. He was a mentor to me like that. But when he taught me the same approach with life's challenges and reminded me to "always factor in God" ... It was a life changer for me 🙏

“ One more. About 1986. We are headed out on the Cumberland Gap trail at Signal Mountain, TN. We have backpacks and are headed in for the night. I fathomed myself the outdoors expert. Some wooden steps led down to the trail. I took one step and slid on my bottom all the way down. I looked back up at Chuck who was just shaking his head and saying ... Why don't I feel good about this ??? We headed on in ... We setup camp ... He got homesick and crawled in the tent for a bit. We had a blast ... Sitting by a fire ... Looking down on the Tennessee River ... Talking religion into the wee hours of the night. Just Lewis and Tolkien on a mountainside.

“ Chuck and I first met in 1973 working together at the Sears Northlake Garden Shop. Fast-forward 6 years over which we had totally lost touch ... I walk into my new job at Lanier Business Products as a computer programmer. There is Chuck ... But I couldn't place him. I kept saying .. I know you from somewhere. He would give me that look and shake his head and say ... No you don't. I might add, I was a bit shaggy back then. By the end of the first day I explained ... Got it ! Sears 1973 ! He gave in ... We became best friends for 45 years ! Chuck had such an impact on my life and just by being himself ... He pushed me to be a better person, a better Christian, Dad ... Son ... Brother ... Programmer ... But most of all ... Friend. That's what I will miss ... A very dear friend.

“ There's so many good and funny memories to share about my Dad. One of my favorites is when I was a kid, I desperately wanted a cool BMX bike. My Dad told me we needed to head out one day and run some errands. We went to a bicycle shop in Stone Mountain to “browse”. We were looking around and I fell in love with a Redline 500a BMX bike. It was one of those “angels were singing, glowing lights came down from heaven above” moments when I saw it. My Dad said “you like that one?” And of course I replied enthusiastically “yep!”, and that's when he said “It's yours”. I remember almost wanting to pass out from the excitement....and I remember the smile on his face as I rode it out of the store. My Dad always had a very giving heart and would have done anything for me and my sister. That memory will live with me forever.
