“ Melinda....I was simply devastated to hear this was your son. I am so sorry for your loss. There are no words I could possibly say to take away the pain you feel. I can only pray for you and for peace in your heart. For whatever reason God saw that it was time for your son and I know that you know God makes no mistakes as much as we don't understand. You and your family are in my thoughts and prayers and I truly hurt for you. God bless you and keep you in his arms for you are going to need his strength. I am so sorry.##imported-begin##Joan "Mills" Brown##imported-end##

“ Melinda, Chris was so special to me and my family. I loved him so much. I am so grateful that he was a part of my families' life that will always be remembered. The last time I saw him was a few weeks ago at the ball field as he loved watching Bailey play ball. I went on and on to him about his beautiful smile and eyes. He was a beautiful young man inside and out. I never saw him without a smile and hug for me. He showed me that he loved me. He loved Brooke and Bailey. I will cherish his love. You and I have a unique relationship that is not found offer. I love and care so much about you. I wish I could take the pain away. I will always be here for you. You have been such a great mother to all of our children and I appreciate that. You will remain in my thoughts and prayers everyday.

Chris, I love you and will miss you so much.##imported-begin##Susan Brennan##imported-end##

“ Hey Chris, I wish I could have told you one more time how much I love you; how proud I am of you!
Last night Amanda and I went to the scene of the accident and saw where you left this world. As we were walking back to her car, we saw an old telephone pole in the shape of a cross. It gave us such peace and comfort. During your 20 short years with us, you were so graciously loving and giving to everyone you met. Your charisma was more beautiful than your eyes. Your heart was more open than your arms. Your fearless body died but your spirit lives on. You left this world at the corner of a lot that will be the future site of a church, so I know in my heart you will continue to love and give back to others for many years to come.
I am forever grateful to have had you as a friend but even more blessed and fortunate to have had you as a brother. All the memories I have shared with you will forever be cherished and remembered. Until I see you again, I have memories that will keep you alive. I love you little brother!###imported-begin##Aimee McCorkle###imported-end##

“ Chris will be remembered most for his openness, smile, charming and entertaining personality, along with his quit witted humour . . .

I will remember Chris for his straightforwardness in the one on one conversations we had. Chris accepted life as it was and didn't focus on the "what-if's".

*Well I'm going home,
Back to the place where I belong,
And where your love has always been enough for me.
I'm not running from.
No, I think you got me all wrong.
I don't regret this life I chose for me.
But these places and these faces are getting old,
So I'm going home.
I'm going home.
Song by Chris Daughtry*

Chris told me he had no regrets in life because this was the life that was chosen for him. He knew he had great potential and wasn't using it. . . I told him I knew he did also. He said one day.

Being young, we believe we have plenty of time to have fun, do what we want now, and make changes later down the road.

God brings his children home when He is ready . . . not when we are ready. God called Chris home . . . Chris had completed God's purpose for him on earth.

Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me . . . and I will dwell in the house of the LORD for ever."

I can't imagine how hard it is for those Chris has left behind . . . from my conversations with Chris he accepted his imperfections but believed in Jesus Christ as his savior. Although Chris will be missed by many, any sadness & tears are for ourselves . . . Chris no longer feels sadness or pain . . . h's gone home to his father.

Praying for his family and friends . . .
