Delores is survived by her husband, Steve Brumbalow of Lawrenceville, GA; daughter, Terri Brumbalow of Dacula, GA; son, Tim Brumbalow of Lawrenceville, GA; brother, Robert (Christine) Puckett of Rome, GA; and several sisters-in-law, brothers-in-law, nieces, and nephews. “ I miss Delores so much. I could tell so many stories about summers spent learning to swim in the pool or sitting on a soaked towel eating hamburgers in her living room.

I could tell stories about so many Christmases or about nights spent playing hockey video games and eating pizza with Terri and Tim while my parents took a much needed break.

I love Delores and her family like I love my own and will get one of those big smiles and hugs when we meet again in Heaven.

“ So much laughter so many good memories. I want say goodbye for we four will see each other again to remember jeep rides in the ice. Sledding in the snow. Picnics of bologna sandwiches at church with a cover because it is raining. Going to the mountains in Georgia and finishing up in another state. Joys of watching your children cheer and play basketball. Allowing us to be part of their lives while we waited for Henry. Teaching Henry to swim. Good hamburgers and much more.

I won't even think about the mischief the guys got into and we had to get them out of.

Love you and so thankful we meet.

“ It is with a heavy heart that I say goodbye to a woman who was not just a client, but family. For over ten years, I had the privilege of being the home physical therapist for her son, Tim. But somewhere along the way, our relationship became so much more. She affectionately called me her “adopted daughter,” and I cherished every moment I spent in her presence.

She was a kind and gentle soul, the kind of person who made the world a little brighter just by being in it. She never missed an opportunity to send me home with a brown bag of goodies—baked treats, snacks she knew I loved, and even ones for my family. She never forgot a birthday, not even this past one when she was in the hospital. That was just who she was—selfless, thoughtful, and full of love.

She was one of the most dedicated wives and mothers I have ever met, a true embodiment of devotion and grace. Her strength, kindness, and unwavering love for her family were an inspiration.

I will miss her more than words can say, but I am forever grateful to have known her, to have been loved by her, and to have had the honor of calling her family.

Rest peacefully, my dear friend. You will always be in my heart.
