“ Dear sweet sister of mine, today has been one of the hardest days of my life. There has always been the three of us and now there are only two. I am so very thankful that you are no longer in pain, but I know that Tracey and I have lost a part of our hearts. I love you more than you'll ever know. I pray that you have finally found your peace and I know that Mama and Daddy were standing there with open arms, bringing their daughter home. I promise that we will look after Patty, Robby, and Eddie to make sure they are okay. I promise that I will do everything in my power to get closer to Tracey and keep us together. I will never forget our good times and I will never forget the hard times. Peace be with you , dear sister. Just wait, we'll be there one day. love you! “ I am so, so sorry for your loss. The loss of a loved one is so heartbreaking, even though that is the case, we do have hope. Isaiah 33:24, and 25:8 tell us that the God of love will soon bring an end to sickness and death. (1John 4:8) Jesus, while here on earth promised that most people who have died will be resurrected. (John 5:28,29) Psalms 37:10,11,29, and 72:7,8, tell us about the wonderful conditions that we will be surrounded by. To Patti, my heart goes out to you. My mother who died in 04, was also my best friend, I could talk to her about any and every thing. Only thing that helped me get through was time and prayer. I am still not able to look at a video that was made about her life, and it is 8 yrs later. with the help of God, loved ones and friends, your heart will become lighter as time goes on, then you will be able to cherish the wonderful memories of your mother.
