“ I didn't get a chance to really get to know JR. or Laura very well. I met them both while at Marlene's house. I was nervous the first time I met him. But after just a little while I found out he was a very warm and kind man. He and his wife both treated me just like family. He reminded me of my Dad's father. A quiet but loving man. That was of course until you made him mad. He will be deeply missed. I feel lucky to have been one of the ones that got to know him and Laura both.

“ I thought we would have more time. More time to laugh, to plan, to travel to live. But our Lord had other plans for you and he needed you there with Him. I treasure the time we had together, even when you were so ill at least I was there caring for you and giving you my love. I'll never ever regret meeting you, falling in love and getting to spend the past 31 years together, through good times and not-so-good times, through laughter and later tears when we realized your time with us was short. When you took your last breath you also took my heart my love. I love you now and forever, until we meet again. All my Love, Lara
