“ My father in law always had a way with words and his stories were incredible! He had an amazing sense of humor. I will never forget him watching our youngest son and he just started to crawl, Dad says “here comes Sweetpea” across his new floor in Bass Lake! Dad you will be so very missed ❤️❤️❤️❤️❤️❤️

I remember Bass Lake oh too well thats where my cousins made me smoke my first cigarette, I think they thought I was gunna tell on them, so they made me smoke a smoke I really didn't like it at all. I also remember my Cousin Elaine taking butts from Gramps lucky strikes & putting a Bobby pin on the end so we could get that last puff. The things we did. We weren't bad kids just a lil stupid. We use to love to go up to Bass Lake it was so much fun.

“ God received an incredibly strong angel back home into heaven. My Grandpa Shaughnessy was strong, brave, fair, funny and caring. He truly cared about his wife and family. You could always count on him to make you laugh and if you wanted to hear a good story or memory he had you covered. I loved listening to the stories he told about the War and when he was a police officer. I always told him he should write a book because he got to meet a lot of celebrities and just had a lot of interesting things happen in his life. I will always remember watching the theme song to Cops with him. He would call me in so I could sing and dance to “bad boys, bad boys, whatcha gonna do when they come for you!” Also the commercial of the little ziplock finger man. He would draw a smiley face on my finger so I could be just like it. It’s the little things that hold the most heartwarming memories. He always called my Grandma “Ma” and I always wondered why and then I had kids of my own and I get it. It was special. My children got to go grocery shopping on Wednesday’s with their great grandpa. Bailey called him Papa Shaughnny and I loved hearing her say it because she came up with it so it meant a lot. She is still so young at 3 and my son Ethan is only 1 so I’m sad they couldn’t make more memories with him but I have stories to tell them so they know how amazing their Great Grandpa is. I’m happy you are with Grandma and those in your family that you have missed now but I wish you were here too. We love you Grandpa.
