“ I recall when back in the early 80's we had to prestage for a tradeshow and a bunch of guys were sequestered in a very remote warehouse outside of Washington DC. It is fair to say that we were getting "tired" of both location and each other so, Hans created a soccerball of various parts laying around in hope to break up the days a bit. In retrospect, I wish I would have been on the same team as Hans as we were both darting for the ball when he tackled me to the point I could clearly see "Elvis Presley" for a few minutes. He laid me out!! Shortly after that I could hear his laugh and the comment, you should never mess with a soccer player from FC Köln (Cologne). The rascal was a former professional soccer player and I still have the scares to prove it ;-). Needless to say, Hans won all the chases from that point forward.

Hans, thanks for all the memories and support you provided over the years. I know that some day I will beat you to the ball.....

I am a bartender at Applebee's in Suwanee. I have know Hans for many many years. Hans always made me laugh and smile when he told stories about Alex. He made sure to have a burger patty or two to take home for Alex. He always had a good joke to tell too. Mary Ann, Hans always spoke lovingly of you and I am so sorry for your loss. He will be missed! God Bless!

What a nice picture. This is how I remember Hans. Always with his furry companion. I will miss hearing Hans conducting business at his second office -- on the front porch. May he be at peace with all the angels and saints!! Connie

It is comforting to me to see Hans with his friend Alexander. I first was introduced to him with when he was a contractor working for Wolfgang Jung in what was then the Alexandria, VA District Sales Office for Siemens Medical Systems. Hans, Paul Sinclair and one other dude used to perform all mechanical installations within the District. Hans was a soccer player on Wolfgang's local soccer team. I recall on Saturday, Manfred Richter had challenged Wolfgang's team to a game at a field near Iselin. So we rented a large bus with a driver and the team drove up to Iselin. Thanks to Hansey, we won. Manfred then escorted us to a local beer garden where all the players consumed large amount of beer and beef stew.

Hans then left the DC office as did I to form the Installation Department in Iselin. We worked together for 4 years and then I was relocated to Philadelphia. We lost touch after this but I will never forget him.
