Rosine,
I just found out I could reply to the comments for Daddy's obituary page. Thank you for your thoughts. He thought so much of your family. I have often thought about Megan and Jared. Hope you all are doing well. Thank you for being a part of Daddy's life.

“ I grew up in the same neighborhood as Jackie and Dennis. We played together, rode the school bus, and went to the same school. After I became an adult I saw Jackie at a medical building in Atlanta; he was seeing an orthopedic because he had laid his bike down on the street and broken his leg. He was very upbeat and smiling that smile. Many times I saw Jackie with his Dad and brother, Dennis. We were always eating somewhere. Jackie will be missed. He was such a friendly, caring person and always had that smile. Freeman family you are in my prayers.##imported-begin##Joyce Gunter Pinion##imported-end##

“ I hadn't seen Jack in quite some time. Probably not since about ten years ago when we crossed paths on the street. Having worked with him before as a Motorman with APD, he earned my respect as well as the respect of others. Often it is said that one is not remembered by the birth date or the date of death - rather the time spent here (the dash in between the two dates) and the effects that time had on the memories and the lives of others. In my opinion, Jack's time here was well worth God's efforts to loan him to us , just for a little while. When I first sat on a police motorcycle in zone five, Jack told me that he would show me how to police the right way on a motorcycle. That he did! In Jack's own way, he taught me to let discretion be my guide. Then he went on to teach me how to ride with and respect other officers while riding in formation. I never knew him to speak unkindly about another officer of any other fellow worker. Even long after I had left the department, upon seeing Jack, he would always flash his signature smile and wave. I will always remember and respect him for giving selflessly of himself and serving our country, the City of Atlanta Police Department and our community. A kind man who will certainly be welcomed in Heaven and sorely missed here on earth. Rest in peace my former college and good friend!###imported-begin###Tyraun 'LT' Patterson###imported-end###

I am so sorry it has taken so long to reply. I just found out I could respond online. Thank you so very much for your kind words. Daddy loved his APD brothers and sisters. You all were his 2nd family. My niece made the comment recently that Heaven must've needed someone to direct traffic. I'd like to think that's exactly what he is doing. (And a little fishing too. Lol)
Thank your for your part in our Dad's life.
