“ I am so sorry for your loss. In noting the previous entries you can tell that he was well thought of and dearly loved. I find this recent article to be very encouraging at a time like this.
Its found at jw.org Entitled WHY SO MUCH SUFFERING? WHEN WILL IT END? Pages 4-7, On page 7, paragraph 8, Dead loved ones will be raised from the grave. While on earth Jesus raised his friend Lazarus from the dead. (John 11:1,5, 38-44) Thus demonstrating what he will do on a much larger scale under God;s Kingdom arrangement. John 5:28,29. I hope that this entry will give you comfort and assured hope.##imported-begin##Fe##imported-end##

“ Verna and girls...consider this a big hug, we know Jim's not suffering any more Isn't it wonderful to think of the great and precious promises God gives us, and comfort at these kinds of times. Remember the night we were singing at our house and we hunted the house down to find the music to "We are going down the valley, one by one". I can't remember if we ever found it Weren't those wonderful days we spent together. never to be forgotten. Or, the first night we saw you all at the gospel meeting in El Cajon, and so curious to know who you were and where you came from. Love you dearly. “ Verna, Dawn, Dusk, Danette and families,
Thinking of you with love and care and know you are feeling the loss of earthly ties with Jim (a dear Husband and Dad) but also the comfort in knowing that he lived for the day when he could be with his Heavenly Father and Jesus where there is no more suffering and pain.

Love,
