“ Mr. Jay took me to my first UGA athletic event back in 2004. Remember him singing Redneck Woman by Gretchen Wilson in his truck that day. His jolly and fun spirit always uplifting. For years we shared a spot next to each other in the back of my dad's boat. There were lots of fish during those times, and even more laughs. Also a ton of oatmeal creme pies and Mtn Dew. Those are cherished days. I'm still encouraged by Mr Jay's boldness in sharing his faith and how he cared for others and his local community. Both evident in the basketball clinics he put on in Monroe. My heart aches for you and the girls, Mrs Tracy. We can find comfort knowing he's now immersed in unimaginable joy and perfect peace in the Lord's presence. And that there may have been some barking in heaven after the Georgia game.

“ Love and condolences to Tracy and the entire family. Lots of fun memories of Georgia home and road games for a number of years, including some of those Georgia-Florida game weekends in Jacksonville and St. Augustine. Jay most definitely served the Good Lord and his family and followed the Dawgs passionately. I also fondly remember him coming to visit me at Joan Glancy in Duluth after I had my stroke in 2013. Sorry I won't be able to be with y'all today but one of the lingering after effects of my stroke is I only have a few "good hours" most days.

“ Tracy and family, I am so sorry to hear about Jay. Thinking of the younger years when Eli and Kayla were just crawling around at family Christmas gatherings. Sweet memories of the daddy’s chasing after them. i am sorry I won’t be able to attend service. My Aunt needs me by her bedside. Jesus will soon be calling her home. Love you Tracy and you are in my thoughts and prayers. Love, Crysti

“ His daughter Faith and mine Victoria shared an exact birthday. They were good friends in elementary school. Jay was always kind and funny. He loved his family and pets. He was dedicated to supporting those around him. He had some good dad jokes too.

“ Jay was my replacement when I left the training dept in the 90s. He was in his element in front of others training and always loved that job. His love for Jesus and his family was evident and he was not shy talking about either of them. Jay will be missed. RIP my friend
