“ Jeremy was the sweetest little boy and so quiet at times. When I talk to him and joke with him when he was much younger, he would always shuffle his feet and kind of look down but not straight at me. But I clearly remember not being able to do the laundry When Jeremy was over. Evidently his grandma had a washing machine long ago that got off balance, and started as Jeremy would say , “ came alive, and started walking at me!” He and my son were friends that started in kindergarten and I always knew how loved he was!!! Tom and Myra are those people that kept their family close and God even closer. I love y’all and I pray for peace and comfort that surpasses all our understanding 🙏 Jeremy is never far away and always in our hearts. He is home and you will reunite again in the most awesome place!!!❤️
