“ Johnny first came into my husband's life in the late 90s when Johnny was the Plumbing Supervisor at Atlanta Medical Center. Andrew had such respect for him, and I never heard him complain a word about "his boss". He was really excited, too, years later when Johnny came on board to Emory where Andrew then worked. Meeting Johnny, it was easy to why Andrew held him in such esteem. He was a kind & gentle man with a soft spoken manner that simply commanded respect, and Andrew mentioned how often he loved his Paula and how her illness & death just tore Johnny up. Andrew truly admired the love & respect that Johnny had for his wife. We were all better people for knowing him. I know that Andrew & Johnny are playing catch up in heaven right now. My thoughts & prayers are with his family. Your dad may not be physically present with you, but I know that he is in your hearts every moment of every day. Peace be with you, Laura Stickell

“ Johnny,

On this day I want you to know what your friendship meant to me. When I needed someone to listen to me, I knew you would. When I needed support, I knew you'd always be there. As I searched for the right words to express my thoughts on this day...I realized that what I really want is to thank you for being in my life and to tell you that you're a wonderful person and a wonderful friend. It was "my pleasure" to be your friend and there will never be another Johnny Mayo. My heart goes out to your family and know that I will always love and miss you, Johnny Mayo!

*With all my love,
Brooke*
