“ Karen was my second mom, she taught me everything... when she took care of me from an infant to 13 years old she loved me just as my mother would. I always knew I was the daughter she never got to have. I remember when I could never get my pony tail right or my braid right she would always love to fix it for me because she could never just put her sons hair in braids or pony tails..maybe Kevins! lol... I just wish you couldve been here 3 more months to see me and oscar get married I know you would be so happy when I put a mothers corsage on your wrist.. Although I did at your viewing it won't ever be the same. I'm so sorry you had a rough time these past few years and even though it tore my heart in pieces that Saturday night, I know you are okay now and you are breathing free. I love you so much Karen, and even though Ive been crying so much my eyes are almost swollen shut, I still don't think it really has set in yet. Anyone reading this please pray for my family and my mom for loosing her best friend.
