“ While caring for my daddy in the last two in half years of his beautiful life my favorite memory was of him scuffling up and down the hall with his walker yelling my name ☐ As a child, so many favorite memories but the one that sticks out the most is all our weekends spent at Stone Mountain Park. Daddy always made every thing an adventure and always made sure to have the best time! Life now is isn't the same! Miss you, daddy so terribly much!

Hello in Heaven Daddy- I miss you so much and love you so much more! Grief isn't fun, living life without you is worse. The kids are doing wonderful, you'd be so proud of them! I, on the other hand, am still trying to find my place in this big old world since you went to your beautiful mansion in Heaven. Daddy, thank you for everything you taught me, both quietly and loudly, it was and will always be a blessing. You're my hero daddy and I'll always strive to be all the greatness you seen in me. I miss you, daddy, always. Some say they see alot of you in me, that makes me smile. There's no one else in the world I want to be like. I love you, daddy, forever. Until we see each other again, keep everything in order, spend some time fishing, take care of Samie, and save a seat for me. Rest sweetly, Daddy! Love always, Jess.

Hello in Heaven Daddy- Both the kids just had their birthday's. Emily turned 17 and Graham 11. You'd be so proud of the both of them! Graham talks about you and how you loved to eat fish and go fishing. Emily is graduating soon and not decided on which college to attend, or if in State or out of State. She keeps changing her major, too. She talks about you and, I know, misses you and the small talks you two use to have. Not much is going on down here. Haven't been by to pay a visit to the guys lately but I know they miss you. As we all do. God is shaping me into who he wants me to be with a little of you added in, which is fine with me. Hope you're enjoying family time, fishing and hugging on Samie for me! This will be your second for everything in Heaven this year. Just wanted to stop in for a quick hello and a I love you! Save that seat and dance for me, daddy! Love your girl, Jessie.
