“ *With deepest sympathy to the Singley family. My husband and I just met Neil a few months ago through my mother Mary Wilson. He had been doing little things around her home for her as she is a widow. It was greatly appreciated to have him take an interest in her needs with no payment requested. It was done out of sheer thoughtfulness and kindness. A major gift lacking in this world of today!! He gave us vegetables from his garden and showed us his huge collection of things in his yard. Some antiques and some not. My husband Bob and Neil talked for a while about old tractors and what-knots in his yard trying to see who knew more. LOL. We were told of his passion for singing in church even if there were only 6 people in attendance. He didn't care, he was singing for the Lord!! We had planned on inviting him for dinner but the time was never right. I wish we could have known him longer. He was truly an interesting man to talk with. He always mentioned his children and grandchildren in conversations. He will truly be missed. Love and sympathy to you all. May God grant you courage and strength at this time. Prayers
