“ Kyle,
I miss you so much my heart hurts. I look at your pictures everyday and Ayden is just like looking at a miniature version of you. Jenny is lost without you, your mom and dad are devastated after losing both of you in such a short time. I know you are looking out for all of us left behind and just know we love you very much. We all will make sure Ayden grows up knowing what a wonderful man you were and how brave you were to fight for our country. I hope you rest in peace now.##imported-begin##Pamela Kitchen##imported-end##

“ To Kyle's family.... I am a so sorry for your families loss. It was a shock to me and the rest of the guys that served with him in Iraq and Germany. You should always be proud of him. He stood up and served his country when others gave excuses as to why they can't. I know that he is much happier now and looking down on you and your family and the friends he left behind. Although I know how hard losing a family member or friend can be don't be sad for him, but celebrate the life he lived and remind his child everyday of the man he had become. And Kyle buddy I'll see you around someday.

“ Honor your Life in remembrance of me Let go sometimes of all that troubles you, I'm telling YOU, you are not alone. Our brief journey may have ended. But our relationship is never gone. Honor your life in remembrance of Me. Start by embracing that warm Spring rain. Envision yourself as my favorite flower, then nourish me with bottled champagne Kick back; relax in degrees of the Summer heat. Face the sun. Let it's light come to your aid. Acknowledge the rays of courage in you, allow your shadow to sit in the shade Recognize leaves going through changes with the tree. Know that Fall may feel like it will never end. Reach out and catch a huge falling leaf, - throw it back with defiance at the colorful wind. Winter; if it begins to shut you down. Reconnect on FACEBOOK with an old friend, Tell them of my holiday laughter. Twitter about my jazzy-electrifying grin. Sing my favorite slow jam song. Down load it on a ipod. Dance like me for just an hour. Swaying with rhy-th-mic energy. On your birthday-wear MY favorite color. Dress up, as an angel in disguise. Reach out and help another, reinforce any loose or lost family ties. You are the architect of your life. Explore a daily ordinary miracle or two. Continue to be whole, be well and be alive BECAUSE This is what I would do...for you Honor your Life in remembrance of me--- 2010 - Chigoke Adoma--- I found this poem and I felt this was something kyle would want us to all do###imported-begin###Nichole###imported-end##
