“ I have the fondest memories of Lisa and her effervescent personality. Her smile and precious giggle warmed so many hearts and pulled 'shy' souls out of their shells. We met at New Dawn Theater in historic Duluth, GA. Despite the old New Dawn Theater location being gone, I drive by the old location daily and I remember her vividly acting or volunteering backstage for Miracle on 34th Street, Cheaper By the Dozen, Three Musketeers, and the list goes on and on from there. Lisa was a great Mom who introduced her three children to theater and the ensuing family that would embrace them through their teenage years. Lisa touched so many lives at New Dawn Theater and, without doubt, touched lives in every step of her life. She loved her family and displayed her adoration even in the toughest of moments. Cameron, Jordan, Hope... know that your Mother loved you with every ounce of her existence. She was standing behind you through every tough moment of growing up. She loved you and is looking down from Heaven adoringly still loving you. You are in my heart and prayers and have been since learning of this tragedy. Sending love and angel hugs your way every night in my prayers.

This world has lost a precious soul in Lisa. I worked with her at Home Depot and will always remember how much love she had for all of her children and her husband...she loved the Lord too and I know he holds her now...just as we hold her in our hearts. Love and prayers for all of her family and many friends ❤️🙏

“ Lisa was my very first co-worker and friend at SunTrust Bank. She taught me everything I needed to know about my new job. Working so close with each other, we became very close friends, honestly she was one of my very first friend since I had just moved to the Atlanta area. I use to go to her apartment every morning to pick her up to carpool to downtown Atlanta. Over the years we lost touch with each other and so many times, I said to myself, I wonder how Lisa and Rodney are doing. It is so sad that this tragic accident has happened, and I could kick myself for not keeping in touch. Rodney, my heart goes out to you and your family, and you all are in my thoughts and prayers. Lisa was a beautiful woman inside and out and will be truly missed. With tear filled eyes, I send my prayers and love. Barbara Gonzales (aka Barbara Interrial)
