“ Hello... I did not have the pleasure of knowing your precious girl, after reading and hearing so much about her, I wish I could have. She has obviously left her mark and created such a legacy at such a young age. Many people so much older than she, never have the chance to do such. With this being said, I also heard that you all were doing your best to celebrate her life amongst your grief. I hope it is an amazing celebration because it seems God made Madison to be such a gift, a gift taken back way too soon, I know. My prayers go out to you all during this time. I hope for healing and understanding. I pray for God's continued comfort for you all. I want to share one thing that I remembered from a young ladies remembrance celebration years ago... We were told that we did not love her for her skin, for her hair, or anything tangible. We loved her for her spirit, her infectious spirit... I have a feeling that it was Madison's infectious spirit that made so many love her. I can see from her pictures that amazing spirit. It shows in her smile and in her eyes. Hold on to those images, her words spoken and I promise you, you will hold onto her spirit, therefore, ALWAYS being with her. While it is not the same, it does bring comfort and hope. God has made a place for us all in his Kindom, in our eternal home. Madison has now gone home and will be there for you when it is your time to go Home too. Many, many prayers for you all.##imported-begin##Tana Shackelton##imported-end##

“ What and honor and blessing it is that God placed your family in our lives. Madison ALWAYS had a smile, a kind word, and a genuine happiness that touched everyone she came into contact with. She and Taylor were fast friends, and we were too. As I reflect on the times they shared together, I vividly remember a lot of giggling and happy noises! I cherish those memories, as I know you do too. We already missed you terribly with soccer starting back up....and now our hearts are broken. But, we are never a phone call or even a stone's throw away. We love you. Prayers daily coming your way....what a blessing to have ever met your beautiful daughter and all of you. Always in our thoughts and prayers...

“ Kelly,
I bowled with you, your mother and your grandmother many years ago. I was informed of your daughter's death on Monday and I cannot stop thinking about you and your family. From Madison's photos, I see that she was a beautiful young lady, following in the footsteps of previous generations. She was blessed to have such a wonderful mother(I remember your lovely personality and smile well).
I have a 15 year old daughter myself, and I cannot begin to imagine your pain and grief at this time...
I will continue to keep you, Madison, and the rest of your family in my prayers.
Most Sincerely,
Anne###imported-begin###Anne Slack###imported-end###

“ Chris, Kelley, and Jacob, There are no words sufficient to express my sorrow for your loss. I'll always remember being at the softball field when Madison was a sweet little toddler. That red hair and those blue eyes. Wow! My heart is broken for you. You have been and will continue to be in my prayers. I have just asked our Lord to hold you in his strong arms and comfort your grieving hearts. Much love to you.##imported-begin##Jo Prince##imported-end##

“ Dear Young family,
We are heartbroken. She was a beautiful young lady that we enjoyed getting to know. We loved to watch her play soccer. "red Bull" has never meant the same thing. Jessie and I have fond memories of our homecoming dress shopping trip, the girls had such a fun time that day. You are in our prayers.##imported-begin##Sandy, Doug & Jessie Denney##imported-end##

“ Chris, Kelly & Jake- I don't even know what to say. The last time we saw you was last year and everything was going so good. The girls were acting crazy and having a blast at Anna's. That is what I will remember along with our first skiing trip with your family. The kids were young and we all had the best time. We will hold those memories close to our heart. I can't pretend I know what you are going through, but I do know that you all are an amazing family that is always so happy and positive that people around just light up when you come in. I know you have family and friends all around that will help you through each day, not that it will be any easier, but if you were to need anything at all....please call me. I wish I was closer and could do something to help heal your heart. The one thing that gave me little comfort was just thinking of all the special memories and those are what I hold close to my heart. You all are in my prayers, Love you all!
