“ This year, 2024, would be her 100th anniversary. I'm glad I found this momory site I haven't seen before so I can pay my tribute to Marcella Childers. I was Mrs. Childers sudent back in 1973. I loved her. One day I was running inside the classroom with a friend - we shouldn't. She called me in the office, talked to me and then... we prayed together! Unforgettable. Here I post a picture of my class. Im the one right next to her. Abilio Ribeiro Coelho

“ I will always remember coming home from school and finding you had made tea and scones. We would sit at the table and you would tell me stories that made us laugh, sometimes cry, and always feel uplifted. You were so kind to me and you were always thoughtful of what a young man might need to grow up well.

When we moved in, you let me have Grandpa Childers' guitar because you saw potential in me that I hardly saw myself.

How right you were on the day that you proclaimed "Every boy should have a dog!" Snuggles filled my heart with so much joy.

This passage came to me in reading some of the other comments:

Hebrews 11:13-16

13 All these people were still living by faith when they died. They did not receive the things promised; they only saw them and welcomed them from a distance, admitting that they were foreigners and strangers on earth. 14 People who say such things show that they are looking for a country of their own. 15 If they had been thinking of the country they had left, they would have had opportunity to return. 16 Instead, they were longing for a better country—a heavenly one. Therefore God is not ashamed to be called their God, for he has prepared a city for them.

There are so many, many things that we can glean from this passage, but in this moment, I believe the most important one is "Welcome Home". In Faith, you chose to live this life as a pilgrim in a far away land, following Jesus no matter the call or the cost. And like a pilgrim, "longing for a better country", you have finally reached the city HE has prepared for you. I cannot wait to visit!

This insight stems directly from your faithfulness to provide solid scriptural insight to us through your book.

Thank you for investing so much into me as a young man, as a new husband, and as a new father. I will never forget your kindness, and will endeavor to follow Jesus as you did, your whole life long.

“ So many memories flood my mind as I think back on the last 22 years of knowing you. You have been a spiritual mom to me and I cherish so many of the memories I have.
Your love for the Lord and your passion for teaching children always inspired me.
Being a part of the family was and is always special to me.
As I got to know you and love you over the years, the emptiness I now feel without your physical presence is only bearable because I know with confidence I will see you again one day.
You welcomed my son Joe and I to be a part of your daily life. The most precious thing is the little card you gave me with your favorite scripture Isaiah 52:7 on your 90th birthday. You proclaimed the good news of Jesus. You proclaimed peace in Jesus. and you proclaimed the good tidings of salvation thru Jesus. As I was meditating on this scripture I caught a vision even as you grew old and frail and your feet often buckled under you, you were always ready to share Jesus with anyone who would listen. How beautiful on the mountain are your feet that never buckled down when it came to sharing Jesus. And the good news of salvation, here to all of us and in the villages of India and Honduras.
You will always stand tall and strong in the Lord in my heart. This scripture has become my favorite one too. Thank you for sharing it with me.

“ As my third grade teacher in the early 70s Marcella was inspirational and encouraging. She allowed me to learn at my own pace (fast or slow, depending on my interest in the subject), taught me some basics in Hebrew as a fun alternative learning, and was kind to those who struggled academically. She certainly is now receiving a "Well done my good and faithful servant" from our Lord right now.

“ Although Marcella and I never met we were bonded together in Christ. I learned so much from her. We met when she bought a doll from my on line shop because she said it looked like her when she was a little girl. I responded that she surely was a cutie. We found out through our emails that we had much in common, mostly our love of our Lord. Thank you so much for the contact because I knew I would hear from her if she was able. I know she has lived a remarkable life and has raised outstanding children. God bless you and enjoy all the sweet memories she has left you with.

“ I met Marcella many years ago when we taught at the same school. Marcella was an outstanding teacher. She was firm, but very kind. She worked well with children with learning problems and was much loved by her students. She had a sense of humor and enjoyed a good laugh. But most important was her faith in our Savior Jesus Christ. She is seeing Him face to face now.

“ As her pastor for maybe ten years, there was not a person I enjoyed visiting more. She was a thinker who used her mind for the Lord. I will continue to miss her until that day when we are together again in the Lord. Even so, come quickly Lord Jesus.
