“ She loved unconditionally! Her love, bigger than her heart! Her jokes funnier than they should be from a Nanna! She opened her door to any and all, and she spoke love and forgiveness. She was always on point to call and send a card for birthdays and she loved everyone in the ways they needed it, she met you where you need her to in your life, and served up Nana’s words of wisdom to guide you through it. She was tough as nails and loved as a pillar of strength and led her family with great confidence but with humbleness and turned her eye to the Lord for guidance. She leaves the world better than it was just because she was a part of the story. Nana, your hugs could cure a broken heart, your words could guide the most stubborn of fools, and your joy for life is an example we all will strive for! Dance, sing, praise, and smile as you watch over us and continue to guide us as you catch up with all who have gone on before. Missed but not forgotten! Loved you as my own grandma and always will!
Love and prayers for all who knew and loved her, Shelly
