“ I was so sad to hear of Mark's passing this morning. Mark was a fighter until the end. I had the privilege of spending time with Mark over the past several weeks after Robin shared the story of his battle. He was so strong and positive each time we spoke that I walked away each time impacted by his attitude. What was shared more than anything was his deep love and affection for each of his family members. Cancer is so ugly, randomly choosing when and whom it will strike. He fought the good battle. While his time on this earth was short, he will be waiting for all of you in heaven when you get there.

His character was true to the end. Please take comfort in that he is in a better place, out of pain and with his Father in Heaven. His was a life that will be celebrated both here on earth and in heaven. Our thoughts and prayers are with each of you during this difficult time!
