“Marvin is my uncle, he made a big impact in my life and I love him so much and always will, one memory of a million was waking up at the camp ground and smelling bacon that he would be frying on a Colman grill and you could smell it all over the camp ground. Another great story I can share was when Steven and I caught a sack full of spots to eat at the pier on the beach where we was camping we was so excited we ran all the way to the camp ground from the pier to show Marvin. He was as excited as we was and he said that's great boys but y'all got to get them back down to the pier and clean them so we can eat them. I wasn't thinking about that, I know we got them cleaned and he fried them, it was the best fish I ever eat in my life. If you was with Marvin it didn't matter where you was at or what you was doing you was having fun and a great time he is a great champion in my life. When me and my family go any where I think of the great times I had with Marvin and his family, it was the best times there will always be a special place in my heart for him and his family I love them so much!
