“ Dear Grannie, Happy Belated Birthday! I'm laying in bed with my two year old son who is sleeping as I am thinking of you. You use to always say I hope I serve my purpose and I know you now know you did. You were my bestie for a long time and my pen pal when I moved away and we talked on the phone a lot too. I miss our letters to one another and our phone conversations. I wish my son could meet you, but he sure will know about you as he grows up. I keep a picture of you sitting out in my bedroom. You were my angel here on earth and your still my angel up in heaven. I have got myself and my son into church where I live. My letter to you as if you were here. I love you Grannie always and forever and a day! For those reading this was the BEST GRANNIE ever. I miss the family reunions, her cooking especially her biscuits!!!! She was so kind and caring and generous to everyone. Very faithful and religious and strong oh very strong woman! She had to be to have raised my dear dad (I love you too so much) and all her boys and daughters ha ha especially the boys ha ha. She had her hands full. She kept the family together and I miss her so much but will always have the wonderful childhood memories and the letters and cards she sent me throughout the years even toward the end of her days here with us. Many wonderful cherished memories Grannie! And the crochet bears you gave me that were once on your bed and my crochet blanket you made for me are now shared with my little man who is growing up so fast, too fast. Sending my love high above Grannie. I love you hugs and kisses!

“My Dear Grannie, I miss you so very much. You meant the world to me. You were a wonderful mother, grandmother, friend, wife, etc. You gave your all in everything that you did. You had a kind heart and I will always cherish our times spent together, you have given me wonderful memories and a woman that I inspire to be as I grow into my older years. You were a strong woman and you have given our family many wonderful memories that I will forever hold dear in my mind, heart and soul. You will always live on through me. I miss getting your letters, but I will forever keep the letters you have written me, we were pen pals for a long time. Every holiday, you were one of the first family members I called, the holidays are hard. I still want to pick up that phone and call you. But instead, I look up to the Heavens to reach out to you and speak to you as I look at your picture that I keep on my nightstand right beside my bed. As I know your in God's arms, may he hold you tight and hug you close for me. I miss my Grannie so very much, words could never express how much. I want my Grannie back, but I know I will have something to look forward to in the future when it is my time....and I know then we will meet again. You have a way with people, you always have. I miss playing checkers with you. I miss watching you make blankets, and I cherish the one you made for me so many years ago, it still looks like the day you made it for me by hand, and it too is in my bedroom. I cherish all the moments we had together, all the letters, talking on the phone and lets not forget the night cap: frosted flakes with sweet milk and a slice of fresh cantaloupe fresh out of your garden. And how you would tuck me in when I stay with you. And as I got older and visited I would return the favor. I'll never forget the last days I spent with you..Thanksgiving...you and I got busted...we both enjoyed an ice cream bar, chocolate and boy did you love it. Aunt Linda came home during lunch to feed you and busted us, really you having dessert before lunch. She had no idea I had came down from Maryland to visit. I thought I was gonna get in trouble. But you enjoyed it so much, that both of us had two before you had your lunch (Sorry Aunt Linda-Grannie and our secret is finally out)...smile. Grannie you have given me so many fond memories. You always brought the family together, I miss those
