To the wife and son of Master Sergeant Mark Allen, please accept my humble condolences and thanks to your father and Husband. When the call came from his country he answered and so did you. How does this country and its leaders ever pay you for your total loss and sacrifices. May he rest in peace and you in the knowledge that you were there with him through the many dark ribbons of his last 10 years. Through thick and thin.

Although I do not know your family personally, I go to church with Margaret and Ron Sharpless and they requested prayer for Mark and your family many times over the last 10 years. I speak for so many in our church who have prayed for you. We have been so deeply moved by not only Mark's life but the great commitment you have shown in caring for him. The tribute video was so wonderful and gave me insight into the person Mark was and still is. I'm looking forward to meeting him in heaven one day.

“It's taken me awhile to figure out what to say about Mark's loss. When I first found out about his passing, I was with friends, and in trying to describe how I felt I could only say, "He was a blast to be around--I liked him, and I admired him.”

Two memories really stand out: One was a night at Summit's on 78 in Snellville, long before Mark and Shannon were married, probably not long after they first started dating. The night involved at least a modicum of karaoke and a song in which Mark sang to Shannon something along the lines of "I love my baby / she's so tall / sleeps with her head in the kitchen / and her feet in the hall." (The song title and exact lyrics escape me, but I've got the gist.) You could feel the magic between them--I even have a photo from that night to prove it.

The second is, I believe, the last time I actually spoke to Mark, which turned out to be not long before he deployed in 2009. I was working at Atlanta magazine at the time and we had a column called "War Story" that followed the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq. I envisioned a "he said, she said" kind of story on Mark and Shannon to get the perspectives of an Army sergeant and an Army wife. Both of them had already been through a lot during Mark's earlier deployment in 2005 with, if I recall right, the 48th Brigade.

I had mentioned the idea to Shannon and asked her to get Mark to call me, and he did. I pitched my idea for the story and he was interested, told me he'd have to run it by the PA folks in his unit, and then added that he wouldn't want it to just be an antiwar story. Then he said, "I don't know what kind of story you want to write, but I'll tell you, I love what I do. I love the soldiers I work with and I know they always have my back. They're family. It might not be popular but I wouldn't trade it for anything." I back-burnered the story, and then it was too late.

Be at peace.

“ *Mark was one of my all time favorite students.i had the pleasure of having him in my American government class at west orange high school.we would talk "military" a lot before and after class(sometimes during class!!) after graduation he would drop by to visit me and keep me up to date on what was going on in his military career.he would also drop off some of his MRE meals that he knew I would appreciate(.as a former marine, i actually liked them which mark could never really understand!).he would tell me about his qualifying jumps as well as when he "haloed"which is a very high altitude jump with a very long free fall before you pull the ripcord.it is considered by paratroops as a A very small and elite group to belong to, but that was what mark was all about...being the best he could be at anything he tried.i will miss him. “ My deepest condolences to the Allen family on the passing of MSG Allen. As a fellow Soldier of the 48th Brigade and a fellow Afghanistan vet, I remember the urgency we all felt when the word went out that a fellow Soldier went missing in Afghanistan. I know MSG Allen felt the same passion to do whatever it took to safeguard his fellow Soldier. It was that drive to go into harm's way to care for a fellow Soldier that makes him a hero - regardless of the circumstances, regardless if he knew the person, regardless of race, religion, political affiliation, etc. All Americans would do well to learn from Mark. His devotion to duty, his selfless service, and willingness to risk it all for a fellow American are a model that all of us should emulate. ”

So sorry to see this news. I am honored to have met Mark, you and a Journey and spend a small amount of time getting to know you this past summer while Jay was there visiting you too. I never imagined I would meet you. You are such a strong and dedicated wife and Mom and you have a wonderful daughter! I enjoyed watching her play with Jason. I only know you and Mark from my brief visit, but knowing that my son Jason was his military buddy, how he put his life on the line for his buddy and friend Mark and was there to support you during that difficult trial tells me so much more than I will ever know myself about Mark, you and Journey and the strong, loving family you have. May he rest in peace. Maybe you can "stop in" to see us on Long Island sometime, you are more than welcomed to come visit!

Thank you for taking care of Mark. And thank you for the sacrifices you and the family have endured on our behalf. Brings tears to my eyes to know his smiling kids have lost their dad. But hopefully they know he loved them and that he will not be forgotten. Nor will they.

“ THE FINAL INSPECTION

*The soldier stood and faced God,
Which must always come to pass.
He hoped his shoes were shining,
Just as brightly as his brass.*

*"Step forward now, you soldier,
How shall I deal with you?
Have you always turned the other cheek?
To my Church have you been true?"*

*The soldier squared his shoulders and said,
"No, Lord, I guess I ain't.
Because those of us who carry guns,
Can't always be a saint.*

*I've had to work most Sundays,
And at times my talk was tough.
And sometimes I've been violent,
Because the world is awfully rough.*

*But, I never took a penny,
That wasn't mine to keep...
Though I worked a lot of overtime,
When the bills just got too steep.*

*And I never passed a cry for help,
Though at times I shook with fear.
And sometimes, God, forgive me,
I've wept unmanly tears.*

*I know I don't deserve a place,
Among the people here.
They never wanted me around,
Except to calm their fears.*

*If you've a place for me here, Lord,
It needn't be so grand.
I never expected or had too much,
But if you don't, I'll understand."*

*There was a silence all around the throne,
Where the saints had often trod.
As the soldier waited quietly,
For the judgement of his God.*

*"Step forward now, you soldier,
You've borne your burdens well.
Walk peacefully on Heaven's streets,
You've done your time in Hell."*

I'

“ Your grief is shared by so many, like me, who don't know you or your son/husband/father. I am the daughter of an Army Ranger from Vietnam who came home with shrapnel that would always be there, and he was one of the lucky ones. I am so sincerely sorry for the loss of your son's good health 10 years ago, and his passing now. I am outraged that a deserter's careless disregard for his fellow soldiers, not to mention his country, created the scenario that changed MSG Mark forever. I read Mark's story today from a tweet sent out by our governor. My family and I send our most sincere and heartfelt sympathies to you all, on behalf of all the patriot-strangers saddened to hear this news. I'm sure there are millions of us.
