“ We want to extend our condolences to the family of Patty Westbrook Whitaker. She was a friend of our late son, Hugh R. Williams, IV, and came to his funeral service in Cleveland, Ohio in June of 2012. We pray that you all will be comforted by God's presence at this difficult time and that you will have many happy remembrances of Patty to help sustain your spirits. God bless you all and grant you His peace.

“ My deepest condolences to the Westbrook and Whitaker family.

My heart is very heavy right now. Although I had not spent a lot of time with Patti, the few times I had her spirit was felt... warm, beautiful, bright, presence... with a smile. I remember she would sign her pictures in my yearbook with Patti - the dot over the "i" would be overly round or with a heart. Not long ago she called to let me know that we worked at the same place. We e-mailed each other, but never got a chance to meet.

To the family, you did a great job raising such a beautiful spirit, who will be dearly missed.##imported-begin##Denise Wortham##imported-end##

“ My recollections of Patty were always marked by something I commented on a while ago in Facebook, and bears repeating here. If it was possible to have a smile that made you feel you were getting the biggest hug, hers was it. Her joy of living and that smile of hers reflected a character that was part of why she had as many friends as she did, and was blessed with as many fond memories that her best friends and family cherish in their hearts today. Though my acquaintance with her was by association at Avondale High School, looking at the pictures that have been shared online about her, I am left a bit envious I wasn't in her close circle, but that's fine. Despite what I do not know about her, there is an undeniable thought in me that I will see her again when Christ returns. I do not regard her as lost. My God is known to be very kind, and I know He will be nothing less than that when He receives her, and God finally gets one of those amazing smile-hugs of hers in person. I wish I was there to give my sincerest condolences. I will miss her a great deal. Maybe more than anyone knows.

“ I haven't seen Patty in several years, but it is very difficult for me to conjure an image of her in my mind's eye that doesn't include her distinctive grin. Something in her spirit made those around her more complete. That is how I will remember her, from "this one time at band camp" til the day I'm gone. She did so much for so many people: her loss is a tragedy for all who knew her and those who didn't get to. I wish peace to all who grieve.##imported-begin##David Steele##imported-end##
