“ Bob was one of the greatest men I've ever known and the most amazing dad. I always told him that he was my dad but he was better than a dad because he was a Bob. When I was young, I used to draw my mom cartoon faces to hang up in her cubicle at work and I always named them Bob. Foreshadowing I guess. Bob loved me like his own and accepted me 100% for who I was and embraced it. More than that, he loved my mom like she deserved to be loved and showed me what true love was and what it looked like and that soul mates do exist and sometimes happy endings as well. He taught me everything I know about working on a car and a house. He made sure I'd never again forget that stupid Pythagorean theorem. He came to my rescue whenever I needed it, sat by my bedside countless times in the hospital and always had words of advice and encouragement. He was my 'guy shopping' buddy. He was truly incredible. As hard as these past couple of days have been, going forward without him will be even more difficult. He leaves a void that cannot be filled.

Rest Easy Bob. I love you.
