“ Precious Beloved Mom

St Patrick's day is nearly here , Savannah is bustling with preparations .

The " greening " of the Fountain in Forsythe Park , is this coming Saturday .

How I long and wish you were here , excitedly making your St Patrick's day outfit ,

And helping to decorate the vertible for the Parade route .

Love 💕 and miss you Mom

Love has not been the same since you went away

Skies are grey and dreary and my Heart filled with grief each and every day , since you were taken away

Love you for now and always my Sweet hard working family devoted Mom .

My Beloved Mom , I can still hear your voice reading from the Bible to Grace and I at bedtime , each and every night . My Heart aches with each Precious memory of you , and fills with anger and bitterness from your remaining lifespan being so cruelly robbed and taken from you . Love you forever and always . “ *Here I lie awake again remorse keeping my Heart from attaining Peace atonement is what I seek forgiveness for being so helpless as I watch My Beloved Mom being legally sanctioned and hastened to her death' A 97th Birthday was only a month away a Day she eagerly talked of with delighted anticipation as that day meant all her family would be gathered around her - family she Loved and treasured far more than anything in Life This Birthday she should have Celebrated and enjoyed - and with a simple medical procedure , Mom would have been here for that day - a procedure denied her by Hospice , and an alternate directive was given - Mom was not experiencing any pain , but heavy dosages of pain meds and sedatives were ordered and administered Mom would turn her head away , clench her jaws tightly together to no avail as her cheeks were tightly pressed and her mouth made to open as Hospice terminally sedated and took My Mom away - My objections were honored by one nurse , and two dosages of these toxic meds I did keep from Mom I did have three wonderful lucid nights with Mom , when I would be there alone to prevent her being snowed under , and those memories I will always treasure My guilt though , will never be eradicated , at my not being able to prevent Mom from ever being placed under Hospice euthanasia goals and plans for our senior citizens Mom had no terminal illness , she had a bowel blockage that had been treated in Hospital , always with a positive outcome , and requiring few hospitalizations for this condition throughout many years
My understanding of her Hospice admission was - failure to thrive - ie - weight loss*

Mom was in a facility that fed the residents what I would term a teen age diet --- pizza , with a few crushed chips , hot dogs and beans - hamburgers cooked so hard and dry they were not palatable - when we visited and took her favorite meals , vegetables and good old country cooking , her appetite was wonderful

Mom's Life span was shortened and she was sentenced to an early death by terminal sedation - Hospice can choose to try and make their terminology sound acceptable - Palliative care - comfort care - pathway to transistion - but their real purpose and goal is exterminating those who they deem no longer viable and a financial drain on the insurance companies

My Mom had six living generations and still a zest for life , A Beautiful spirit filled smile and a twinkle in her eyes - Mom's season of Life was not over , it was cruelly snatched away and taken from her

Now I Lie awake with my Heart breaking , no Peace or solace within my soul , just anger and bitterness toward those who stole away Precious time from my Mom -

Love and miss you so much my Beloved Mom , Your Loving Daughter ,Beverly

Brenda Buck - July 06, 2017 at 11:09 PM

My Precious and Beloved Mom - Not a day goes by without my heart breaking , I miss you deeply. You deserved a far better leave taking from this world , than the passing you so callously received . You deserved the dignity of being called home by God . You deserved passing with grace and dignity , and definitely did not deserved to be euthanazied by orders and directions being given to administer potent - black box warning label drugs to hasten your death and take you away from the ones who loved and wanted , to take care of you . My guilt over being powerless to prevent Hospice from taking you far too soon will never end. I saw your physical condition. And without hospice intervention in taking you away - you would have Celebrated your 97th Birthday , that was only one month away. I Love you Mom , Please forgive me for not being able to have kept Hospice away . I know you voiced many times over the years that you did not want them involved in your health care Mea Culpa

She was so beautiful! She had the most loving caring eyes and infectious smile. She never complained about anything in life and was always there for anybody who needed her. The one thing that she loved more than anything in the world was her family. I know that she is my angel now because I still feel her around me everyday and think of her and even dream of her. She makes me want to be a better person and live my life right so that I can go to heaven and see her again. I miss her so much!

“ Ruth James Calhoun was my great grandmother. She was the light in all darkness, her smile infectious. I could sit and talk to her for hours! She knew everything in life there was to know. 96 years is along time on this earth and every day of every year of her life she made someone smile. I miss her so much. God has gained a special angel.

“ My Beloved and most Precious Mother. You worked so hard to provide for your family. You taught us not only good work ethics, but also instilled within us a love of reading and acquiring knowledge. Most of all you gave us the rich gift of knowing and loving family and upholding family traditions. You taught us to always look at the inner person and help others whenever possible. Your warm Loving personality and caring Heart, no longer being present, leaves this Earth being a cold bleak place. You were the Lilly of my Valley and my Bright shining star. Love you Mom with all my Heart and Soul. Your Daughter, Beverly Ann
