She had a heart of gold. She is my daughter. Alicia foster grandmother. She heard how awful my father has treated us so when I went back for my sisters wedding she would not let my father near Alicia, My mom said she wouldn't mess with her. I loved and respected her no-one was going to mess her babies.

“ I knew her as Nana. Although I didn't feel like I was her grandchild as much as my cousins, she made sure to treat me like one. The day that stood out most to me was when I graduated high school. She congratulated me and gave me a gift. That little magnet man was stuck to my college fridge for 3 years and sat on my desk at home for another 2 before his magnets started to weaken. That small gesture meant a lot. My condolences go out to not just her family, but anyone that knew her because I know she reached out to those she cared for. I know she's with my dad and everyone else right now. Love you Nana.
