“ Terri was a good friend and teacher. She never hesitated to help others. Her famous phrase was "You can't teach someone who does not want to learn", She will be missed dearly.

“ I had the pleasure of getting to know Terri as we worked together in Toronto. Her friendly, outgoing, giving and patient manner endeared her to everyone that she worked with or got to know here. I think to Terri strangers were only friends that she hadn't met yet. We're all shocked and saddened at her passing.

“ I've known Terri many years. She was fun. Smart and a dedicated friend. We graduated Smithfield High School in Smithfield.NC in 1969. We were neighbors and friends and walked to and from school.together. She was with me when I.met my husband and I introduced her to Jimmy. We have kept in touch.through out the years by phone and cards. I will definitely miss my dear friend cause I knew when I called she always had time to talk and enjoy one another talking.about everything from old times to husband's and recipes and family. I love her dearly and I look forward to joining her one day for a wonderful gathering in HIS name ..HE promised. I'll never forget you and your love for animals and the way we loved to giggle over the least little thing. With LOVE always..Nancy Holloman..Selma.NC

“ We met Terri and her husband Jimmy in 1975 in Spartanburg, S.C. when we transferred there with our former company. Jimmy worked for the same company and we met Terri due to a need for childcare. Terri became like a second Mom to our daughter and both Terri and Jimmy loved our daughter and our daughter loved them also. We knew when Terri was caring for our daughter, that our girl was in the best of care. My only regret was losing touch with both Terri and Jimmy. So thankful for the internet. It seems like a cruel joke that she is no longer with us and I know many hearts are hurting, including my own, but I know Heaven welcomed another saint when she left this earth and another ray of sunshine is coming from above. God bless Jimmy, his family and hers as well as everyone who called her friend.
