“ I had the pleasure of being a work colleague of Ken's for over 15 years, and although he always called me "boss," I often felt it was the other way around because he taught me so much.

He was not just a work acquaintance, he quickly became a good friend — someone with whom I could share many common interests. I was always fascinated by how multi-talented Ken was: a great engineer who could design mechanical hardware and electronic circuits, and an expert in CAD. He had an incredible work ethic and was available even on his days off — not that he ever really wanted to take time off!

He was also an accomplished artist, model builder, and, at one point in his career, even a private detective and of course a very proud Marine. (As Ken would say once a Marine always a Marine)

Ken had a quick wit and a wonderfully dry sense of humor. He loved practical jokes around the office, his favorite being the electronic cricket that he would hide in people's desks or above ceiling tiles. Every minute or so it would let out an annoying chirp, but somehow you could never find it.

Ken will be greatly missed by all who knew him. My heartfelt condolences go out to his family and loved ones during this difficult time.

“ My sincere condolences to the Anderson family. Ken was a brilliant engineer, an artist, a collector, a master model maker, a soldier, and most importantly a true friend. It was my honor to work with Ken for over a decade and I will forever be in awe of his many talents. He contributed so much to our organization that he has built a long lasting legacy with our employees, company, and industry. His memory will live on in our hearts and he is greatly missed. This brings me great sadness, however, also joy that I was able to know him and call him a friend.
